Historically Low Inventory + High Demand = Seller Advantaged Market

The past two years have seen a record low number of transactions in our community. Overall for the State of Maine, the number of sales has dropped nearly 25% from the first quarter of last year. The good news for sellers is that median sales price has increased by almost 10% during the same period. Our community is not immune to these shifting market conditions. As a potential seller, the historically low inventory coupled with high demand puts you at an advantage. Trust our local knowledge, experience, and expertise in the Higgins Beach community to help you make a move.
